A team works more effectively if the individual members appreciate the differences in their thinking styles. Thinking diversity leads to more creative outcomes. Research using the HBDI has shown that team effectiveness is stronger in diverse teams.